HAVAS

Paris, 8th.—The Boulangist Committee on their return from Jersey, have drawn up a list of the Boulangist candidates at the coming Municipal elections.

Lisbon, 8th.—Vilhena has been named Minister of Marine, and Arroyo of Education. Government has issued important decrees reforming the laws in reference to the Press, public meetings, liberty of association, and judicial organization, and especially criminal procedure.

GALVESTON.

Berlin, 7th—Colonel Stoffel, author of the pamphlet proposing an alliance between France and Germany, sees in the resignation of Bismarck a road opened for his idea; and he thinks that the Emperor wishes to re-establish amity with France, which Bismarck also wished for, but at the expense of those under his thumb. The Emperor does not wish for war, and, freed from Bismarck's influence, would act generously towards France. Stoffel believes that Bismarck's withdrawal from public life is purely temporary, as events will force the Emperor to appeal to his services. The object of Bismarck since the treaty of Frankfurt has been peace, while Germany was being consolidated, and with this view he made every possible concession to Russia; but it amounted to nothing, and he fell back on the alliance with Austria and Italy. The Emperor contemplates a more liberal policy to help the working classes on a scale not hitherto thought of, and which Bismarck would not have tolerated.

St. Petersburg, 7th.—The riots by the students are at an end.

London, 7th.—A speedy dissolution of Parliament and majority for Gladstone at the elections is expected by Lord Randolph Churchill and most of the thinking members of the House of Commons. In Government circles there is great bitterness against Lord Randolph, but, although rejected by his party, he is certain to play a prominent part in the politics of the country.

New York, 7th—A London correspondent says there is indescribable terror in St. Petersburg. The prisons are full of students, many of them noblemen. There is a sad foreboding of a Nihilist plot. At Riga the labourers rose and nearly killed the Governor.

Rome, 7th—The Pope gave a farewell audience to General Simmons, representative of the Queen of England.

Berlin, 7th—The Berlin - American Navigation Company threaten to establish a port in England if the Hamburg people do not finish the port at Cuxhaven this summer.

London, 7th.—The Grand Duke Michael has been ordered to the Caucasus for three years, to prevent his marrying a daughter of General Count Ignatieff.

Lisbon, 7th.—A decree has been issued creating a special Ministry of Education.

Cairo, 7th.—Stanley left yesterday for Brussels.

WEST COAST TELEGRAMS

Valparaiso, 7th—The "Magallanes" has returned to Ancud without finding any of those shipwrecked in the "Gulf of Aden." The "Angamos," which also went to look for them, struck on an unknown rock off Vallenares. Crew saved.

Government has approved plans of Transandine Railway, via Uspallata, between kills 13 and 19.

Santiago, 8th—Tremendous excitement here owing to the statement published by a B. Ayres newspaper that this province could not pay the service of its debt.

THE CRISIS.

The crisis in the River Plate is steadily intensifying. To-day is worse than yesterday, and this week worse than last. Thus our financial troubles are increasing instead of diminishing. Even our neighbors now begin to feel the effects. Montevideo, with her National Bank shares under par and her Obras shares down to 24, presents almost as bad a situation as our own, while Paraguay, Rosario, Cordoba and Corrientes are all suffering more or less the same as Buenos Aires. All remedy at the moment seems premature. We have to labor and to wait before things come round. The crisis in the River Plate is, after all, no greater than in other countries, whose experience should be our guide.

In a series of articles we have already given our readers Mr. McCulloch's admirable sketches of the great crises in the United States in 1817 and 1837. We now give some extracts from his concluding chapter on the crisis and panic of 1857, in the United States, which sprang from pretty much the same causes as those which have brought such ruin on us here. We commend the paper and the antecedent papers on the same subject to the attention of all those who care to study the crisis in which this country is so haplessly plunged. Inflation of our currency; excessive credit and unbridled speculation have produced the ruin. We must go back, therefore, a good deal before we can advance, and finish before we can begin. Mr. McCulloch, under date of January, 1890, Washington, writes as if he were dealing with the present River Plate crisis. In discussing the panic in the United States in 1857, he says:—

"In 1857 I was the president of the bank in the State of Indiana, and this is a part of what I said about the financial troubles of that year in the report from which I have quoted:—

"The financial crisis of 1857 was the result of a similar cause to that of 1837, namely, the unhealthy extension of the various forms of credit, but as in this case the evil had not long been at work, and productive industry had not been seriously diminished, the reaction, though sharp and destructive, was not general, nor were the embarrassments resulting from it protracted. Now, in both instances, the expansion occurred while the business of the country was upon a specie basis, but it was only nominally so. A false system of credits had intervened, under which pay ments were deferred and specie as a measure of value and a regulator of trade was practically ignored. Everything moved smoothly and apparently prosperously as long as credits could be established and continued, but as soon as payments were demanded and specie was in requisition distrust commenced and collapse ensued. In these instances, the expansions preceded and contraction followed the suspension, but it will be recollected that while the waves were rising, specie ceased to be a regulator, by reason of a credit system which prevented the use of it."

The most pressing duty which I had to perform when I became Secretary in 1865 was to provide the means to pay the soldiers and to meet other pressing demands upon the Treasury. This was done in the only way it could be done, by the sale of temporary obligations which had proved to be attractive to investors. After this had been accomplished the work of funding these obligations was commenced and carried successfully on until the whole amount—some thirteen hundred millions of dollars—was converted into bonds. While this work was going on I was under constant apprehension of a financial crisis before it could be completed. My apprehension was unfounded, but only as to time. The crisis was postponed, and for so long a period that the opinion generally prevailed that the vitality and productive power of the country were so great that the most expensive war that had ever been waged could be concluded, and great expansion of credit could be checked and abridged, without financial disturbances. I have to confess that this was my own opinion, but the same causes which produced the crisis of 1858 were at work, and, as had always been the case, the revulsion came when least expected.

When I left London in September 1873 to come to the United States, the financial skies, if not cloudless, were not threatening. The letters which were received by the London firm from its New York partners were encouraging; and I had no reason to expect anything but a pleasant visit to my old home, and a return to London under auspicious circumstances. But on the arrival of the steamship in the outer harbor I was met by the stunning intelligence that one of the wildest panics which had ever occurred was raging throughout the country. The crisis was a terrible one. Although it came unexpectedly, it was only the consummation of influences which had been long at work beneath the financial horizon. In extent, in fierceness, and disaster it resembled the revulsion of 1857. It was not as Mr. Blaine states, brought about by the losses sustained in the civil war, which had been terminated eight years before, nor by the destructive fires in Chicago and Boston. Great losses may bring about what are called hard times—not panics. It was produced by an expansion of currency and credits, which fostered speculation, which rarely fail to terminate in financial troubles.

THE PRESENT CONDITION OF THE COUNTRY.

A high tariff has been in force since 1862, and, according to Mr. Blaine, the country, and the whole country, under its beneficent influence ought to be highly prosperous. The circulating medium is abundant. Interest is lower than ever before known. Good railroad and municipal 4 per cent bonds command a premium; those of the United States are in demand at 124, and yet what is the condition of that great interest which underlies all other interests—the agricultural interest? What are good farming lands worth in Mr Blaine's own State, in Vermont, in New Hampshire, and in all the Eastern States? How do prices of farming lands in the Middle States compare with the selling prices of such lands when the tariff was light in comparison with what it is at the present time? If the condition of the farming interests in these States is the result of the increase of cultivated acres in the new States and the lessened rates of transportation, how happens it that in all these great grain-producing States the farmers who are as well off at the close of the year as they were at the beginning are the exceptions?

If protection is the beneficent policy that it is represented to be by Mr Blaine how happens it that even manufacturers are not happy? How happens it that combinations are formed by them to curtail production and maintain high prices? Are the consumers of manufactured goods benefited by legislation that prevents foreign competition and enables the favored few to regulate prices for their own advantage? Is a country really prosperous when cities, which are the consumers of wealth, are rapidly growing and farming lands are decreasing in value: when rents in cities are enormously high, and excellent farms are not attractive to tenants at rentals not equal to 6 per cent interest on half their appraised value?

I asked the keeper of a little shop, about fifteen feet wide and thirty deep, on Pennsylvania-avenue, in Washington, what rent he was paying. "Three hundred dollars a month," he replied; $3,600 a year." Now I venture to say that there is not a farm in Maryland or Virginia, no matter what may be its size and the cost of its improvements, that rents for half that sum. No thing is clearer than that the wealth-producing power of the country is not in a healthy and prosperous condition.

Our Mails.

(Per L. & H. s.s. Coleridge)

London, March 15.

The Queen held the second Drawing Room of the season at Buckingham Palace yesterday.

Lord Salisbury gave notice in the House of Peers that on Friday next he would move a resolution respecting the Report of the Special Commission similar to that adopted in the other House. The bill providing for the flogging of armed burglars was read a third time.

In the House of Commons a new writ was ordered for West Cavan, consequent on the death of Mr. Biggar, Parnellite. A proposal by Sir G. Trevelyan, that Parliament should ordinarily rise at the beginning of July, was negatived by 173 votes to 169; but it was intimated that the Government would not oppose the appointment of a committee to inquire into the subject.

M. Tirard and the other French Ministers placed their resignations in the hands of the President yesterday. The Tirard Cabinet had been in existence a little more than a year.

It is announced from Berlin that the International Labour Conference will hold their first sitting to day at Prince Bismarck's palace.

Mr. George Leveson-Gower, Gladstonian Liberal, was elected for Stoke-upon-Trent by a majority of 1,231, receiving 4,157 votes, as against 2,926 recorded for his Liberal Unionist opponent, Mr. W. Shepherd Allen, who has been abroad during the contest. At the last election, on a much smaller poll, the Gladstonian majority was 1,162.

At a special meeting of the London County Council further debate took place on the proposal to build a tunnel across the Thames at Blackwall. Lord Rosebery, the chairman, suggested that, instead of going on at once with the complete undertaking, they should proceed only to the extent of £5,000, when their experience would enable them to judge whether it was wise to attempt to finish it. An amendment against the entire scheme was negatived by fifty-six votes to forty-seven, and another adjournment took place.

To day will commence a great strike in the local trade. As the result of the action of the Miners' Conference at Manchester, where it was resolved to demand an advance of wages—5 per cent immediately and an additional 5 per cent in July—about 120,000 colliers in Lancashire, Yorkshire, Derbyshire, and North Wales will cease work. Some of the Lancashire owners have unconditionally conceded the demand, but the majority have decided not to do so. On the London Coal Exchange merchants raised their prices 1s and 1s 6d per ton, but the actual advance is much greater, and the trade has been seriously unsettled.

Depression prevailed in the stock markets, sales being made on fears of a great strike of trade. Various rumours were current on the subject during the day, but no precise information transpired up to the close of business. The resignation of the French Ministry had little influence, and on the Paris Bourse prices were firmer, the announcement having apparently been fully anticipated. No change occurred in the Funds, while some of the English railways declined ¼ to ½ per cent, the chief movement being in Sheffield "A." South Eastern "A," however, improved, on purchases stated to be connected with the recent coal discovery in Kent. The satisfactory working statement referred to below was issued after the close of the "House." American railroads were flat, though, except Milwaukees, Louisvilles, and Union Pacifics, which relapsed ⅜, to 1, the changes were unimportant. Some of the bonds rose 1 to 2 per cent. Grand Trunks receded ¼ to ⅜, and Canadian Pacific were ⅜ down. Amongst Argentine lines, Central and Buenos Ayres Great Southern fell 2 to 3 per cent. Mexican (Vera Cruz) stocks were strong, principally due to the state of the account, and the Preferences advanced about 1 per cent each. The Ordinary was also up ⅜.

With a few exceptions, including Argentine, Egyptian Unified, and Greek, which gave way, the variations in foreign bonds were favourable, the stimulus being the receipt of higher quotations from the Continent. Brazilian were in special request and gained ¾ to 1 per cent. Ecuador, Egyptian Preference, Greek, Hungarian, Peruvian, Portuguese, Russian, and Turkish participated in the recovery, the latter being bought on French account. Banking, brewery, and tramway shares showed firmness, and miscellaneous and financial were steady. On the other hand, nitrate and land securities declined. The feature in Colonial Government debentures was a fall of 2½ per cent in Cape and Queensland Inscribed Three and a Half per Cents, owing to the new issues. An almost general reduction took place in South African gold mines, the most noteworthy alteration being in Ferreiras. Diamond shares likewise relapsed, but copper descriptions were firm.

Great regret continues to be expressed in Plymouth and neighbourhood owing to the drowning of Sir Howard Elphinstone, V. C., K. C. B., Commander-in-Chief of the forces in the Devenport District. Particulars of the sad occurrence were received this evening in a telegram from Teneriffe to the Western Morning News. Sir Howard Elphinstone, his wife and daughter left Plymouth on the afternoon of Saturday, the 8th inst., on board the New Zealand Company's steamer Tongariro. The general had for some time past been unwell, and was taking the voyage for the benefit of his health. At half-past nine of the 8th inst., when the Tongariro was at the mouth of the Channel, General Elphinstone came on the saloon deck to look at the lights of Ushant, which were coming into view. He remained talking on the deck with Mr. Vivian, jun., a passenger, and was standing just before the chart room on the port side of the ship. Mr. Vivian was sitting on the skylight and General Elphinstone was facing him. The weather was clear, with a fresh wind and some rough sea. The ship was occasionally rolling, although not heavily, and it is evident that General Elphinstone thought lightly of the rolling, as he might easily have steadied himself by holding on to the bars of the skylight or on to the window of the chart-room, which were both within his reach. While the General was standing there came a heavier roll than previously, and just as the ship was recovering from it General Elphinstone's feet slipped and he shot like a flash against the gunwale chains, and, turning a complete somersault, went overboard. The fourth officer, who was standing close by, saw the general fall on a partially-open port below, and then roll off into the water. The engines were immediately reversed, a patent life-buoy bearing a light was thrown overboard instantly, and the ship within a very few minutes returned to the spot. A boat was instantly lowered and cruised around, but, no cry being heard and no sign of the general being discovered, after two hours the search was very reluctantly abandoned. Lady Elphinstone and her daughter immediately on their arrival at Teneriffe took passage in a homeward bound ship, and are expected at Plymouth early next week."

Paris, March 14th.

Two more terrible crimes have to be chronicled. One took place this morning at No. 70, Boulevard Montparnasse, where lived M. Picard, a clerk in the Ministry of Public Instruction, with a woman named Marie Rébut. M. Picard passed as a model of a Government employé, and his neighbors were under the impression that Rébut was his wife, so closely did the existence of the couple resemble that of steady-going married people. For some time past Marie Rébut had been ill with a dangerous affection in the throat, for which she had to undergo an operation. This preyed on the mind of Picard, who, after a copious "Mi-Careme" dinner last night, appeared unduly excited, but the friends who had been keeping holiday with him took no notice of his altered manner, and left him at midnight with Marie Rébut and her youngest sister. Early this morning the latter was awakened from sleep by the sound of voices, and she saw Picard giving his mistress something to drink out of a bowl. Hardly had Marie Rébut partaken of the drink when she cried out that she was poisoned. Picard made no remark in reply, whereupon the little girl got out of bed and proceeded to her sister's aid. After she had done so, Picard produced a big revolver and fired three shots point blank at his paramour. He then went into the kitchen, swallowed some of the stuff which he had given the woman—which proved to be a solution of copperas—took up his revolver once more and blew the roof of his skull off with the three remaining bullets. Before giving his final gasp he was able to drag himself to the foot of Marie Rébut's bed, where he died. The woman herself was also dead before her little sister returned with the "concierge" of the house, whom she had roused up. The other drama was enacted in a "regular" household, that of M. and Madame Mayer, of the Rue Monge. The husband and wife lived at war with one another, and last night, while the former was at work in his private office, Madame Mayer approached him with a pot full of burning paraffin oil, which she flung over him. The man, literally on fire from head to foot, rushed upstairs to the rooms of a police-inspector who lived in the house, but the inspector's servant, when she opened the door, recoiled terror-stricken from the sight before her, and retreated inside. Madame Mayer in the meantime armed herself with a revolver and ran after her husband, in whose back she lodged six bullets. Hearing the sounds of the shots, the woman "concierge" of the house ran courageously to the assistance of the wounded man, and extinguished the flames that enveloped him. The police-inspector at the risk of being shot rushed after Madame Mayer, who locked herself in her room, and turning the reloaded revolver against herself, fired five bullets into her breast. She died almost instantaneously, her husband having lingered a short time before he succumbed to his fearful injuries. The woman, who was forty-five years of age, her husband being fifty, is supposed to have given way to a fit of insanity. Her sister is an inmate of the Charenton Asylum for Lunatics, and others members of her family have also evinced indications which lead to the supposition that they were not altogether responsible for their actions. Both M. and Mme. Mayer were well-off, and before their domestic quarrels they led the peaceful and secluded life of respectable "rentiers". These crimes, repellent in their horror, are only the principal ones that head the list of the sombre tragedies that have left crimson traces in the annals of the Mid-Lenten festivities of the present year.

RACING NOTES AND ANTICIPATIONS

The meeting postponed from Sunday last will (weather permitting) be brought off to-day. A very interesting programme has been issued, and an excellent day's sport is likely to follow. Our selections are:

„ Ensayo ... Ec. Titan
„ Campeones Kildare
„ Capital ... Sorcier or Rabelais

We append some extracts from an interesting account in the Sportsman of March 8th giving an account of Fred. Barrett's visit here. The article is too long for insertion 'in toto'; it contains, as do all accounts in English papers of things South-American, some curious errors, foremost amongst which is the statement that, to avoid the almost tropical heat, the "carriage folk" of Buenos Aires resort to a table land of a high range of mountains near Rio Janeiro!!

"The racecourse at Palermo was, of course, visited, and this is described as a circular, like unto our beloved Roodee at Chester. The track is all grass, which is irrigated by means of huge hose that would gladden the hearts of Messrs Mark Price, Frail and Co. Several training establishments (native) adjoin the course, which were, however, not visited. At 4 a. m. the horses come out, and are put through a course of trotting and hack-cantering exercise. They are then taken in and brought out again from, say, twelve till two, and, as a rule, repeat this performance twice more before sunset, so that in all they turn out four times per day. (Newmarket and other trainers please note). About one mile and a half from the town is the training establishment of old friend Brett, and in this stable all the lads are "English, quite English you know." The stud over which Brett presides numbers some eighteen to twenty horses, Humewood, Oberhof, Galifet, and others being amongst them. Kellett was one of the stable jockeys, and his recent frightful accident whilst riding Acme is still fresh in the memory of readers of The Sportsman. The poor fellow was visited by Barrett frequently whilst there, and although still on crutches, he sailed for England two days after Barrett left. The horses trained by Brett looked wonderfully fit and well, and it is only just to the native trainers to say that the majority of the animals entrusted to their handling looked ditto. Of the stable accommodation little need be said as truth to say it would be the reverse of flattering. Brett tells how he sat up one whole night fearing the utter demolition of his range of stabling from a high wind. Inasmuch as no races took place during Barrett's nine days stay, much information that would have proved not only interesting, but valuable, is doubtless lost to us. The jockey was, however, greatly impressed with the grandeur and appointments of the stands, paddocks etc. Betting is exclusively confined to the pari-mutuel, which here finds favour. A good friend was found at Buenos Aires in Mr. C. Livock, M.R.C.V.S., who, if we mistake not, graduated under Mr. 'Midhurst' Smith, in England. He is in possession of an excellent practice, and enjoys great popularity.

Apart from the racing establishments already alluded to, large grazing farms are met with, which, as a rule, are paying concerns. The natives ride into the town from outlying villages enveloped in a huge shawl to keep the oppressive heat off, while every imaginable sort of horse is to be found, from the stately carriage horse of the wealthier citizens to the hacks employed by the poorer classes. The Stock Exchange is one of the grandest buildings, and the inhabitants seem generally wealthy. Here Barrett had some capital shooting, and enjoyed the hospitality freely extended to him by Don Juan Bocau and Captain Russell England. The former gentleman has promised to make the popular jockey a present of four native hacks, which will shortly arrive in England. Captain England, by the way, sails in the same vessel with Kellett two days after Barrett left.

At the end of the ninth day Barrett, quitted Buenos Aires, not without regret, for he had been most hospitably treated by all with whom he came in contact. The impression conveyed to his mind was that the Argentine Republic is a country of almost unlimited resources, although as far as racing is concerned the people have much to learn. From the specimens of whips, bits, &c., that Barrett has brought back with him they believe in punishment to bring the horse into subjection, in illustration of which, I may mention, that Indian Prince, who was when at Morton's anything but a tractable animal, is now completely subdued under the special course of treatment provided for his delectation. Bidding adieu to the many friends he had made, Fred. Barrett embarked by the good ship Sorato (Captain Cooper in command), the passengers being composed of a mixture of Spanish, French Portuguese, &c."

CRICKET.

The B. A. C. C. regular cricket season was concluded in Holy Week with the return match v. the Montevideo C. C. and a match v. H.M. Navy, both of which resulted in favor of Buenos Ayres.

The team arrived in the Eolo on Thursday morning last, going up to the ground shortly afterwards. Play commenced about eleven by the B. A. C. C. sending E. Gifford and Lewis to face the bowling of Long and Poole. The score was taken slowly to 19, when Lewis was bowled off his legs. Denison followed, and the score kept advancing with great rapidity. At lunchtime the batsmen were still together, Denison having made 76 and Gifford 56.

On resuming, Gifford was caught in the slips, having made 9 more (2 for 180), or 161 runs added since the fall of the last wicket. Forde now came in and hit vigorously, while Denison completed his 'century" and was directly afterwards, stumped, for a hard hit but very lucky 103. Boyd did not stop long, but Forde, Stokes, Drabble and Mills added 16, 14, 11 and 15 not out respectively, the innings closing for 271. Poole and Dr Ashbridge were the most successful bowlers.

Montevideo at the call of time had made 63 for 8 wickets, and the next day lost the remaining 2 in one over for the addition of 4 runs; Alexander 31 being the only scorer, Lewis obtaining 7 wickets for 28 runs.

In their second essay things went still worse, as they lost 6 wickets for nine runs to the bowling of Hogg and Gifford. Schoones and Stanham made a stand for a short time till Hogg caught and bowled the former, and the innings finished for 44 runs, leaving B. A. winners by an innings and 160 runs. The fielding of the winners was very fine all round, R. Anderson and Gifford being especially prominent. Hogg in the second innings got 6 wickets for 25 runs.

On Saturday morning, after a delay, owing to the wet state of the wicket, play was commenced by the Navy batting against the bowling of Denison and Hogg, who succeeded in getting rid of the side for 59, of which Mr Ellis got 21 and Sergt. Richards 11. Lewis caught three men in the deep field.

B. A. began with Gifford and Boyd, the first of whom was immediately bowled. Denison came in and began to play another fine innings, but with more care than the previous one. Boyd retired with 16 to his credit, Lewis and Stokes following shortly afterwards (3 and 4 for 50), but Forde stayed till the game was won, making 14. Drabble knocked up 9, and then made way for Mills (6 for 88). Then there followed a long stand, which was close by Denison being bowled (after having given one chance in the out field immediately before), for a very well played 93. Mills and Anderson made another stand, and the innings closed for 194.

FLORES COLLEGIATE SCHOOL.

Buenos Ayres, April 8th. 1890.

To the Editor of THE STANDARD:—

Dear Sir:

It was my pleasurable duty to officiate yesterday, for the second time, at the sports of the Flores Collegiate School, which sports now appear to have assumed the form of an annual festival.

For this instance the Palermo Cricket ground was kindly lent by the B. A. C. C., and, favoured by splendid weather, we had a really successful and enjoyable meeting.

I cannot here attempt to go into the details of the very numerous events contested, but I hope it will not come amiss if I call the attention of the public, through your columns, to sundry performances of special merit. Amongst the senior lads I would specially mention Vernet and Weber, and the muscular development of the former bears witness to the healthy system to which he has been subjected for some years past. There was a truly fine race between these two, Vernet conceding one yard in a hundred, resulting in a dead heat. In the run-off Vernet, owing, in my opinion, to the wet state of the ground, slipped, and had to retire half way from home.

However, the grandest performance of the day was that of Weber in the cricket ball competition. This lad, and, after all is said, he is still only a tall, undeveloped lad, threw the cricket ball well over 104 yards. This, I fancy, is one of the best if not absolutely the best throw ever made in the River Plate. What this lad may do in course of time, if he sticks to it, I for one, would not venture to say.

Amongst the juniors, although many of them proved themselves excellent, I must still give the palm to little Rios. In the 100 yards handicap, although pretty severely weighted, he ran through his field like a man, and won, literally 'hands down;" in the mile, one of the features of the day, he displayed not only pluck and endurance, but also judgment, worthy of an experienced athlete.

A most amusing part of the day's proceedings was a 400 yards race, extemporally arranged for the band. To see those Italians and Frenchmen clump round the course on their heels, getting weaker and more wobbly every moment, was a sight never to be forgotten. Albeit, although all were terribly blown at the end of the race, they did not forget to blow their instruments afterwards to a good tune, and, when I state that it was the Bomberos band, the public will thoroughly appreciate what I mean. Their music was infinitely superior to their running.

Amongst other enjoyable things, I think it only right to make mention of an excellent lunch, provided by our old friend Hansen; I feel certain that justice was done to it by all; anyhow, I can answer for one individual.

Another circumstance I was pleased to see was the success of a boy from the "Colegio Nacional," by name Demaria, who won two races in masterly style, leading me to think that the example set by Mr. Spilsbury is now being copied by others.

In conclusion, I should like to observe, if you can afford me the space in your valuable columns, that I had the good fortune to be entertained some time back by the Rev. Mr. Spilsbury, his estimable wife, sister, daughters and the resident masters, for a few hours, during which period I had the opportunity of personally looking into the various arrangements connected with the establishment. I found four large, well-aired class-rooms, with almost superabundant paraphernalia; clean, neat and not overcrowded dormitories, good food (be it understood that I partook of the said food under an apology that it was only "school-fare"), a fives' court, a gymnasium, a large garden well laid out and a cricket field. I found a large number of healthy, sturdy, very gentlemanly boys, who were palpably in friendly accordance with their masters.

I went away the next morning with the predominant idea in my mind that my former judgment was correct, and that it would be a wonder if boys, so well looked after, could fail to "turn out" as they are "turning out," no matter what be their nationality.

Believe me to remain,
Dear Sir,
Yours faithfully,
Referee.

Railway Items

The Board of Public Works have sent a circular note to the railway companies requesting them to forward the following data: Amount of capital, quantity of rolling-stock, weight, capacity of each wagon; number of passengers carried in 1888 and 1889; kilometrage run and the amount of goods carried during those two years.

Engineer Koenig has been commissioned by the Board of Public Works to inspect the first section of the Santa Fe and Cordoba Great Southern Railway, previous to its opening to traffic.

According to the official report on the East Argentine Railway for last month the line between Concordia and Federacion is not in satisfactory order, some rails requiring to be replaced. In February, the company spent 14,000 dollars in repairing the line. Some 2,336 passengers were carried.

We clip the following items from the Daily Telegraph of March 15th:—

The Buenos Ayres Great Southern Railway Company (Limited) announces that after providing for interest upon the Debenture stock and the extension capital, the net revenue of the half-year, including the amount brought in, shows a balance of £215,551, out of which the board have decided to pay an interim dividend of 4 per cent and a bonus of 1 per cent for the six months, free of income-tax, carrying forward £35,551.

The Central Uruguay Railway Company of Monte Video (Limited) announces that, after providing for the debenture interest and the half-year's rent of the leased North-Eastern Railway, the net revenue shows a balance of £72,345, out of which the board have decided to pay an interim dividend of 3½ per cent for the half-year, free of income-tax, upon the capital of the undertaking, carrying forward a balance of £24,745.

A Rio paper says:—"It is reported that the directors of the Leopoldina, Barao de Araruama, Carangola and S. Fidelis companies have already signed, "ad referendum" to the respective shareholders' meetings, a contract for the fusion of these companies. The amalgamated capital of the companies will be $70,000,000, divided into 350,000 shares of $200 each, the Leopoldina to receive $46 200,000 and the others $23,800,000. In the composition of the above capital belonging to the Leopoldina the following values are given to its shares: preferred $450, ordinary 85$725."

Thanks to the influence and intervention of Mr. J. V. Cilley, C.E., Inspector-General of the Province, the strike is now at an end. The Provincial Railway Board owe a vote of thanks to this plucky young engineer, who, in the midst of the strike, did not hesitate to drive an engine himself to Mercedes. He and his brother, Mr. L. Cilley, have built the Trenquelauquen extension, which is to be inaugurated on the 13th inst.

The Rev. Dr. Smith A.M. will preach on Sunday at 4 p. m. in the Scotch Church, Barracas.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The city was a trifle calmer yesterday than on Monday, and the gold premium receded a little from its highest point, but only, everybody fears, "pour mieux sauter," to-morrow or next day. People see no hope of improvement in any quarter, and a kind of despairing feeling prevails, especially amongst the working classes. The meeting of Congress is now looked to by some for relief and by others with dread, lest the collective wisdom prove as complacent as they have hitherto been in voting 'disparates" in the way of more shinplasters, guarantees, bounties, etc., such as have landed the country in its present terrible position. An evening colleague says that Dr. del Valle will interpellate Goverument in the Senate about the Bateman Legacy scandal the moment Congress meets.

Cordoba v Rosario was played at Cordoba on the 25th inst. and resulted in favor of Cordoba by 9 runs on the first innings after a well contested game. Atkinson's batting and Griffin's all round cricket were very noticeable for Cordoba. For Rosario Knox and Penman were the most prominent batsmen, and Miles performed well with the ball.

The Frouton Nacional Company seems to defy the crisis, and will probably have cause to repent of its temerity. The cost of the troupe of ball-players engaged for next season will be 160,000 gold, one of the men receiving no less than $12,000 in the same precious metal.

Telegrams from Montevideo last night report the arrest of the English runaway to whom we refer in another paragraph. He came in the Coleridge, not the Dryden. He was dressed as a swell of the first water; and diamonds, watches and other jewelry of great value were found in his trunks. Dr. Reus has resigned the Presidency of the Transatlantic Bank. Dr. Magarinos Cervantes has been offered the Uruguayan Legation in Rio.

A very fashionable wedding took place on Monday at the Archbishop's private chapel, which was crowded by some two hundred friends of the happy couple, Mr. Rafael Gimenez and Miss Deborah Cilley, eldest daughter of our old and gallant friend, Commander Greenleaf Cilley. After the ceremony, the party repaired to the residence of the genial father of the bride in Calle Arenales, where the health and happiness of the young couple were drunk with all honors. The charming bride was the recipient of the most costly and magnificent presents, which were displayed in one of the rooms of the house. We beg to congratulate the happy couple and wish them long years of prosperity.

Admiral Gillies and his gallant crew are expected

ena to-morrow, which is a most convenient place for people to visit the ship. The Coeridge, like the Wordsworth, is especially fitted up for the accommodation of passengers, and we hear that already she has a large list of first-class passengers engaged.

This morning they had all sorts of rumours current on 'Change. First, that the Provincial Government had sold the Western Railway for 40 millions; then that there was a run yesterday on some of our private banks. But all these reports were without the slightest foundation, and merely spread to respond to speculative views.

The London and Brazilian Bank have applied to Government for authority to open a branch here. The capital of the bank is one million sterling.

Mr. John Nelson has applied to Government for the registration of the statutes of "Nelson's (New) River Plate Meat Company, Limited," capital £200,000, and also of the Highland Scot Canning Company, capital £220,000.

Mr. George E. Dickinson has applied for the registration of the statutes of the Entre Rios Meat Extract Company, who are going to work the Puerto Ruiz Saladero, capital £125,000.

We heard from the very best authority to-day that all the reports and rumors current about big failures in the corralon business are absolutely without foundation.

The Exchange market is very quiet and rates are quoted at 47⅝d to ¾d. 5.01 Paris and 5.02 Antwerp. Very little business doing.

The wax match commissions made by the brokers are causing the decimation of that popular body, and we note that no less than four brokers have applied for the Chiltern Hundreds, or in other words to be eliminated from the list. The rush of candidates for membership is also considerably diminished, which is, after all, for the best, as it means more capital and more muscle for the camp.

At the meeting of shareholders of the Cales Argentinas Company, the board announced that although they had sufficient funds at command to pay an eight per cent dividend, they thought it more prudent, in view of the state of the market, to postpone all payments for the present. This view was adopted by the shareholders.

The committee named by the Government to inquire into and report on the working of the Bolsa has not been able to get seriously to work yet, owing to the non-attendance of the members. The committee may do much good, but there can be no doubt that so much talent and energy could be better applied and with more purpose in another part. Perhaps, it is a conviction in this sense that has paralysed the w rk of the committee.

The auction of camp in Rojas by Bullrich was a ghastly failure, not a single bid elicited, although the upset price as only 52 dollars the hecta e. A year ago 150 dollars per hectare would have been snapped at by buyers, which shows how camps —good cattle camps, and no "centro agricola" frauds—have declined in value. The auctioneers' business for the moment is not a paying one.

At the second hour gold jumped up very briskly for cash, and although the total sum that changed hands was very small, the advance in rates was significant proof that with the official pressure off or slackened the premium is bound for the upper regions prophesied by Sarmiento. There was, however, little or no excitement. Comment was profuse, and it was generally said that more paper is in contemplation, which seems to gather confirmation in the simultaneous advance of National Bank Shares. Many parties, however, are of opinion that whether more shinplasters are issued or not, the shares at present, prices are very cheap. National Scotch also improved, the E closing at 90 and D at 89.50, but their Provincial brothers are as weak as ever. Constructors improved to 26 and Catalinas to 27, but there is in reality no market for either stock.

The following is a summary of operations effected this evening at the second ring:—

We have received a copy of the Message of the President of Paraguay to Congress. It is a lengthy document, 35 pages or more. At leisure we shall review it.

Mr. Alfred Bell, the well-known chief engineer of the Argentine transport Villarino, has sent in his resignation. All the old hands are leaving that favourite vessel. Captain Simone and Dr. Mistre still cling to her timbers, but Spurr, Fellberg, Romero, Bell, etc., have left her, and we fear that ere long doctor Mistre, whose musical and surgical abilities have filled Patagonian records, will follow suit.

Mr. J. R. Stafford, the popular manager of the Royal Insurance Company, took leave of his legion of friends to day. He left in the Wordsworth this evening for Europe where he intends spending a well-earned vacation of six months.

Signs of the times! Black cigarettes are now quoted at 10 cents—A rise of 100 op in twenty four hours. This beats the antics of the gold premium.

There was a wild rumour floated on 'Change this afternoon that the National Cabinet was on the eve of a resignation "en masse". This, however, appears to be all moonshine. A Cabinet Council was held to-day to discuss the wants of the crisis.

Another rumor was that Mr. F. Meeks had bought the Western Railway for account of a London Syndicate for the round sum of forty millions, the Government to receive 15 millions and the purchasers to take over the mortgage on the line. This report proved groundless.

The run on the National Bank in the last two days has resulted in the withdrawal of five millions of its deposits.

It was said at a late hour that several financial projects, to be laid before Congress, were hatched at the Cabinet Council held this evening.

A Cabinet Council, which lasted till five o'clock p.m. was held to-day at the private residence of President Juarez. The proposed reduction in the expenditure of the country was the subject discussed. No particulars transpired.

Almost the first news to-day was a confirmation of the rumour that the Provincial Mortgage Bank is about to be thoroughly sifted, and a stop put to abuses which have been so flagrant that the Cedulas, a stock commanding almost unparalleled confidence in the market, have fallen to 50 op discount. It is all very well to put a stop to abuses when they are past mending, but it is clear that unless the offending parties are punished there is no guarantee whatsoever against their recurrence. This naming of an investigating committee is after all a solemn farce, unless vigorous measures are adopted.

Two more failures were reported to-day, a wine merchant and a printer. The liabilities are not to say heavy, as the parties were not of high standing in the market, but all these small failures must eventually tell on the wholesale firms. Indeed, failures of importance are already spoken of, and some five or six houses are reported in difficulties, which, it is to be hoped, will be arranged.

Perhaps, of all, however, the most unpalatable feature of the times is that distrust is so rampant that the public are in part beginning to doubt even the stability of the banks, which, everything considered, are rocks of credit. At a meeting of bank managers it was gleaned that 40 millions of shinplasters are hidden away by the owners, withdrawn altogether from the market in apprehension of a "krach," whilst the small deposits are also falling off, shewing that the working-classes are unable to save as formerly, or are unwilling to trust the banks with their savings. These are very patent signs of the times, too patent, in fact, to be overlooked or misinterpreted.

The s.s. Coleridge (Capt. Brown), which arrived in the Mount yesterday, brings the following passengers:—Mr and Mrs W C Hoard, Miss C Hoard, Mr C G Ogilvie, Mr N Brown, Mr R P Edgcumbe, Mr and Mrs Dowse and two children (Matilda and Mary), Mrs Quirk, Mr F H Quirk, Mr A Quirk, Mr J D Ferguson, Mr T Chapman, Mr J D Cross, Mr W J Clear, Mr G Chatwin, Mr F L Jacobs, Mr W M Hayes, Dr G O Siddall, Mr G Siddall, junr, Dr J Loewenthall, Mr R A Pinckney, Mr and Mrs Harvard and child, Miss Massingham, Mr and Mrs Stanley and child, Mr F Stanley, Mr W Penfold, Mr B Duppa, Mr F F Blyth, Mrs J Williams and four children, Miss N Worley, Mr and Mrs C Mair and two children, Mr and Mrs Ayles, Mr J Thomas, Mr G Hurton, Mr D Brown, Mr J M Burnard, Mr W Turner, Mr and Mrs Harrison, Miss G M Bourn, Mr H Harrison and family, Mr and Mrs O'Hagan and Mrs Dowse's servant.

The (London) Standard, of March 6th, says:—

"Foreign Government Bonds of the inter-Bourse class were excessively flat this afternoon, and South American descriptions almost alone stood firmer. The immediate cause of this sudden depression was the sale of £200,000 of Italian Rente on the London market by Berlin. Some said the Stock was for German account, some that a Bank had smashed in Milan and was liquidating through Berlin. Ordinarily, this event would have made only a passing impression, but a panic is now raging in Germany among holders of shares in so-called "industrial undertakings," and Italian finance, public and private, is in a bad way. Nobody, therefore, buys such securities here, and the market is easily demoralised. It would have left off worse than it did to-night had Paris not come to the rescue. Argentine Sterling Loans were one half to one better, and Cedulas rose 1½ to 2½. The premium on gold has fallen again, and it is reported that President Celman has been obliged to give way—he and his ring together—to General Roca, an honest man. This last tale we doubt. Brazilian Loans recovered one half. Some of the Argentine Provincial Loans were one better, including those of Cordoba. Uruguay Bonds improved ½
